Useful Information & Questions about Liability

Insurance

Students enrolled in the Doctor of Medicine program are covered for legal liability, including malpractice liability, under the University of Toronto's Comprehensive General Liability Insurance Policy. When applicable, WSIB coverage will be provided in case of injury to the student.

Immunization

University of Toronto students enrolled in the Doctor of Medicine program must submit proof of immunization before registration. These immunization requirements have been fulfilled to meet the Health Standards in the Public Hospitals Act, Section 4.2, Ontario Regulation 518/88.

You may also find UofT's registration requirements helpful to review, which can be found here: <https://md.utoronto.ca/registration-requirements-requests>

Useful Information

Our students complete TAHSN approved e-modules for privacy annually. They also complete the following at the beginning of first and third year: Hand Hygiene, Sharps Safety, Workplace Hazardous Materials Information System (WHMIS), and Workplace Violence and Harassment. And these once at the beginning of first year: Prevent Slips, Trips, and Falls Worker Health and Safety Awareness module Working Together: The Code and the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA) module.

As UofT guarantees the above, we kindly ask that you do not ask our learners to provide proof to individual practice sites/preceptors, as this creates unnecessary duplication of work, and affects the overall learning experience for the student. Due to the very limited time at the site and very limited participation of an FMLE learner, we ask that FMLE sites do not ask their learners to complete modules, reading materials, EMR training, etc., again recognizing the very limited scope of a 2nd year learner that is not working independently, and the limited nature of this short experience.

We also kindly ask that you do not request any personal information or documentation from your students (i.e., their CV).
